In another column will be found the proceedings of a removal meeting, held at Rhorsburg. These proceedings breathe the right spirit, union and harmony for the sake of the question. Let the same spirit characterize the friends of Removal every where and the Danville faction will find that their money, the potency of which they have here tofore boasted so much of, in enabling them to prevent justice being done to the county, will not avail them much lenger.

The Real Estate left by the late Jacob Ridgway in the City and County of Philadelphia; is assessed at the sum of $877,-993.

HARVEST HOME CELEBRATION, AT ORANEGEVILLE.

Notwithstanding the sneers of the Antimasonic editor of the Danville Intelligencer is likely to be a good affair, and will attended. Numbers from different section, of this county, as well as from the adjoining counties, and several gentleman from abroad, have signified their intention of being present. Our worthy host, Mr. Johnson is making arrangements to accomodate all who may come, and all who are acquainted with his method of doing busi ness, need no assurances from us, and to others we will say their best expectation will be realized. Come than, one and all, and mingle your congratulations for the bounteous barvest that has just been gather into your granaries.

The water was again let into the the North-branch canal on the 9th inst. and yet loaded boats cannot yet float, for the want of water, the supervisor not being able to bill the canal; in consequence of the miserable piece of patch. work repairs above the guard lock, at Nanticoke; to effect which was the pretended object of letting out the water. We under stand that these repairs have cost the state several thousand dollars, while they are more than useless, in conse quence of the ignorance displayed by the supervisor in their construction. There is a secret history about this job at Nanticoke' that we may here after take an opportunity to explain, which will not be very creditable to the Canal Commissioners, the supervisor, and some others that we have in our minds

HARVEST HOME.

A Harvest Home will be held at Orangeville, Columbia county, at the house of I C. Johnson, on Saturday the 27th inst .-We understand it is got up for the purpose of soft sosping the self-styled Col. Tate & Co. We wonder if the Col. will be there, dressed in soldiers clothes!—Danville

When we first cast our eyes on the above paragraph we were led to believe - that the old editor of the Intelligencer, was at home in person, but when it occurred to us that he was a ubiquous being, and might possibly have the power of infusing into another his contemptible meanness of disposition to disparage every thing that eminated from the upper portion of the county, or that was not conntenanced by the Danville faction, we came to the conclusion that he was probably in body still at Harrisburg, but speaking in Danville through his amiable antimasonic organ, J. Jones. Such being the fact, it accounts for the appearance of the above ill-natured paragraph in the Intelligencer, so well calculated to show of the has two candidates in the field. rancorous feelings engendered in the breasts of the whole Danville faction against the friends of Removal, and any village located within the interest.

STATUE OF WASHINGTON.

It is stated in the New York Express that a pedestal composed of two blocks of beautifully hammered Quincy granite, the base one weighing fifteen tons and the die twenty three tons, has recently been forwarded from Boston to Washington, upon which is to be placed Greenough's Statue of Washington. On the die part is tastefully wrought the following appropriate sentiment;- First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen.'

ROHERSBURG REMOVAL MEETING.

A large and respectable meeting of the citizens of Greenwood and Fishing Creek townships, convened at the house of George W. Abbou, in Rohersburg, on Friday even ing, the 11th day of August, 1843, agreeably to public notice. The meeting was called to order by appointing. Jonathan Lemon. President—William Mather and Richard Haycock, Vice Presidents, and George W. Abbott and John Parks Secretaries. object of the meeting having been stated, it was Resolved, to appoint a committee of six to draft a preamble and resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting. Wheregentlemen to that committee-John Staley. Charles W. Fortner, Nicholas Kindt, Isaac R. Kline, William Edgar and James Dewitt, who, having retired a short time, returned and reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously

Whereas-The time has come when the voters of this county are called upon to make nominations for candidates to fill the different offices of this county, and whereas. party politics have given place to a more important question as it relates to this coun ty, even the removal of the county seat from Danville to a more central position, we therefore, citizens of Greenwood and Fishing Creek townships, adopt this plan to set forth our views as regards the removal party in general. First; we believe that neither of the four townships lying npon the head waters of Fishing Creek, has had the honor of giving a Sheriff to the county of Columbia, for which reason we claim, in the present canvass, the privilege of having a candi-date chosen from one of these four townships, and hereby recommend Iram Derr, of Jackson township as the man of our choice he being a removal man.

Secondly, we assert, that as we have heretofore urged and sustained the removal cause in this county, we still stand firm in the same good cause.

Therefore Resolved—That we view any attempt made to distract the minds of the removal party from their main object, by party politics, as being detrimental to the best interests of a large majority of the vo-

Resolved-That we recommend the formation of a removal ticket independent of political consideration, but at the same time giving each political party a share of the candidates in the ticket thus formed.

Resolved-That as our enemy is a subtle one, we recommend a union of action, as there is a union of interest in the removal

Resolved-That Daniel Snyder, our Representative in the State Legislature for the three last sessions, has stood arm and unwavering, and honesity maintained the best interest of his constituents, for which he merits our warmest approbation, and we hereby recommend him as the man of our choice for member of the next Legislaure from this county.

Resolved-That as Bloom has had the Treasurer and member of the Legislature for the last three years, she cannot reasonably expect the sheriff this year, altho' she

The Courier de Lyons states that water pipes of thick glass, covered with a coating of bitumen joints, are being manufactured at River de Gler. 'These pipes will' it is asserted, bear higher degree of pressure than those of cast iron, and are 30 per cent, cheaper. Should this sort of pipes come into use, it will affect the increased demand for the metal for iron ships.

FOR THE COLUMBIA DEMOCRAT.

Mr. Editor:- Having been called a few weeks ago, a considerable distance up the North branch of the Susquehanna, and zever before having been through the northern part of the state; I was agreeably disappointed as regards the country and its inhabitants. The scenery along that noble stream which as it winds its course around the hills with their lofty precipices on one side and the fertile valies, interspersed with villages and cultivated farms on the other, form a most beautiful landscape. After leaving Northumberland, the first town is Danville, the seat of justice for Columbia county; a pleasant little town; situate on the bank of the river, contains some handsome dwell ings, Court House, several Foundries, three or four houses for public worship, an Acad emy, female seminary &c.
Its location however is far from being s

good one, as regards the public business of the county, being only the width of the river from Northumberland county, and but a few miles distant from the seat of justice for that county. I am informed that it was fixed upon as the seat of justice through the management of some two or three individu als who owned considerable property within its boundaries; and contrary to the wishes of a large majority of the residents of the county

On the east side of the river and eight miles above Danville is Cattawissa, a small but apparently thriving place; audifour miles above that on the west side is Bloomsburg, about one mile from the river, and not far from the junction of Fishing creek with the North Branch. This creek runs a few hun dred yards west of the town; and is a noble stream, with plenty of water power for iron works or factories of any kind, and would be a desirable situation for capatilists to em bark in the manufacturing business, especi ally that of iron, as there are inexhaustible mines of ore throughout that whole region.

The town of Bloomsburg I would say contains something upwards of one hundred dwellings, four houses for public worship, an Academy, several dry goods and grocery stores, three hotels, one of which is a spa cious three story building and kept by Mr. Charles Duebler, a gentleman well qualified for the business, and provided with all the good things which tend to the comfort of his guests. His table is furnished with the delicacies of the season, and the weary tra veller may here find a comfortable resting place, and will always find mine host of the "Bloomsburg House" at home ready to wait upon any person who calls, loafers excepted.

The situation of Bloomsburg is pleasant being on the south side of a gentle rise of ground, descending gradually to the North Branch Canal, and from thence to the river and being nearly in the centre of the county would appear to render it the most proper place for the seat of justice. It appears that the citizens of the county have kept a con tinued opposition to its present location, and bill after bill, by one or the other branches of the Legislature have been passed at dif ferent times, for its removal; but have all heretofore failed, it is said by the unfair representations and sympathetic appeals of the citizens of Danville, to the members of the legislature. During the last session a bill for the removal passed the lower house by a large majority, and was defeated in the senate by the opposition of the senator from the county; under the very specious pretext of a division of the county, in which Qui olic measures the anti removals united, as the only means of saving them from defeat. The removal men I find are again in the field and intend selecting a representative in order to make it a test question; and ereby shew beyond a doubt, that a majority of the inhabitants are decidedly in favor of removal. The removal of the seat of justice to a more central part is a matter of which the people of Columbia county may justly demand as a right, to which they are entitled, and which ought to be granted them by any legisletive body acting for the general benefit of the people. I should suppose one glance of the eye; on the map of the county; would convince any candid man that the public buildings of the county are now, and always have been in the wrong place; and the sooner they are removed, the sooner an act of justice will be done to the people. If it was wrong to have them placed at Danville at first, no subsequent act could make it right for their continuance.

VIATOR,

PERILS OF TRAVEL.

During twenty ave years of steamboat avigation, on the Western waters, from 1816 to 1841, two hundred and twenty eight accidents have occurred, causing the loss of 1700 lives! Of these accidents,99 were explosions and collapses;28 by fire;25 by shipwreck, from gales, collisions, &c, 32 from snags and sawyers, and 24 from different and unknown causes.
